The Chronicle.

R. W. THOMAS, EDITOR.
Particular Attention Paid to Orders.

WHEN we hear the exultant tones of Northern democrats over the recent elections and hear their confident assertions of their ability to hurl the Radical usurpers from power, in November next, we can but ask, if they really have faith in what they say? or really believe that such a feat can be accomplished by peaceable means?

Revolutions do not go backward. The Radicals see that the elections portend their defeat at the ballot-box, yet they go on untroubled by the indications.
Untroubled because they have made up their minds to maintain their supremacy by force. They have control of the army and the purse; the Executive will soon be with them; they know that they are prepared for war, and that their opponents are not, and their determination is either to carry the election by the bayonet, or appoint a President, declare Congress a perpetual body, and say to the democrats help yourselves if you can!

This purpose is so well defined by every movement, during the two year just passed, that it seems incredible that any observing man has failed to see it. No party defeat in any State has produced the slightest change or pause in their course. They feel that defeat at the polls will bring upon them a ruin so crushing, and a disgrace so damning, that it is better for their character to wade through blood to victory, than to encounter the blasting effects of defeat, and the exposure of their consummate vill-lainy, enacted during eight years of unhallowed supremacy. We are no croaker, on the contrary, hopeful and sanguine, yet it is wild blindness not to read the near future, in the unmistakable signs of a settled power, back by irresistible power. A feigned respect for the opinions of mankind, and the forms of law may suggest the propriety of submitting their claims to the popular voice, but with the prescribed forms of an election; but the ballot-box controlled by the armed myrmidons of Radicalism, the mock election will simply serve to add insult to oppression, and when the game is played out, the usurpers will have become too secure in their power to regard the idle vapors of the tame-spirited dupes of a silly faith in public virtue and the power of a disorganized majority to resist an armed and well organized minority. Numbers rarely avail against discipline, and votes against muskets, never.

WHENEVER a Fenian is convicted, in Ireland, he holds himself up as a martyr to the cause of liberty. Among those thus convicted, we notice that not a few were among those who hired themselves for fifty cents per day to fight against the South, which, like Ireland, is the victim of a sectional tyranny. Yet those traitors to the cause of liberty and political justice, here, have been most clamorous against England, for real or supposed injustice to Ireland, and loudest in their appeals for sympathy with a cause almost identical with that which they resented for a pitiful pecuniary consideration. We know not whether to ascribe such conduct to hypocrisy or impudence. In either case, we can have no respect for those who are doomed to suffer under English law for advocating in Ireland, the cause which they fought against in the South.

THE Political Reaction of 1867 SHALL IN Progress.
Great as were the democratic gains and victories of 1867, those of 1868 are still larger. The political reaction against Radicalism, which commenced with the first-named year, is still going on with increased momentum. By this time, New Hampshire shows a Democratic gain of 600 on last year. Connecticut doubles her Democratic majority of 1867. Michigan, one of the strongest of the Democratic States in the Union, which was carried over by the Republicans last year by a majority of 25,000, now votes down and repudiates the cardinal principle of the party, negro suffrage, by 10,000 majority. A Republican gain of 4,000 in Ohio in the spring of 1867, is almost entirely wiped out in 1868. Dubuque, Iowa, goes Democratic. Atchison, Kansas, likewise. The local elections in Ohio all show large gains over the political horizon, and from every direction in it the lightning of public indignation is flashing. These results in every part of the United States show that local feeling and local matters have not produced them. They are too numerous for that. There is something coming, and it is worth attention. New Hampshire, which instructs for GRANT, goes Republican by a decreased majority. Connecticut instructs for GRANT, and a perfect Waterloo defeat to his party immediately follows. In Ohio and in Iowa, where the Democratic people instruct for PENDLETON, the most brilliant victories are won, or the largest gains are made, such as Cincinnati, Dubuque and Columbus. The instructions for PENDLETON were the voice of the people, those for Grant were the voice of politicians only.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THAT'S IT!—Stop grumbling. Get up, brush your coat, and begin to do something out of your regular profession. Mind your own business, and with all your might, let other people alone. Live with your money, and give away or sell your dog. Smoke your cigar through an air stove. Eat with moderation, and go to bed early.
Talk less of your own peculiar gifts and virtues, and more of those of friends and neighbors. Be cheerful.
Fulfill your promises. Pay your debts. Be yourself all you would see in others. Be a good man, and stop grumbling.
